Headlines: Mixed Results for Republican Backers of Same-Sex Marriage

Posted on Sep 25, Posted by David Howard King Category City

Mixed Results For GOP Backers of Gay Marriage

Two of the races involving State Senate Republicans who voted for sam-sex marriage that were too close to call on election night look like they are close to being resolved . After a recount Hudson Valley Sen. Steve Saland looks to have defeated his opponent Neil Di Carlo by 107 votes. Meanwhile, Sen. Roy McDonald of Saratoga appears to have lost his primary to Kathleen Marchione by a narrow margin. Sen. Mark Grisanti, another Republican support of same-sex marraige won a clear victory on election night while his colleague Sen. Jim Alessi chose not to seek reelection. Both sides of the debate over gay marriage are claiming victory despite the clearly mixed results.

In the Press...

City to Add New Kind of Preschool Next Year (NY Times)

Housing Authority Wants to Lease Land to Raise Cash (NY Times)

Assembly Punishes Staffer For Posts Defending Silver (NY Times)

Lobbyist in Kruger Scandal Cooperating With Other Investigations (NY Post)

Bloomberg Questions Validity of Some Mayoral Hopefuls (Wall Street Journal)

City to Add Scan Codes to Restaurant Grades (NY Post)

Less Room at City Shelters (Daily News)

New Push For Term Limits in Albany (Daily News)

Queens Community Colleges Fight CUNY Changes (Daily News)

Cuomo Says Private Companies Could Run State Racetracks (NY Times)

Tags: Tagged in: Bloomberg Carl Kruger Cuomo preschool restaurant grades same-sex marriage

Steve Saland