Today's Headlines: #Sandy Victims Win Hotel Extension

Posted on May 02, Posted by David Howard King Category The Eye-Opener

A judge ruled on Wednesday for the city to extend its hotel program for displaced victims of Hurricane Sandy. The city had originally planned on kicking remaining 196 evacuess out of hotels on April 30 but an extension will give victims until May 15. Five Sandy evacuees filed a lawsuit to gain the extension on Monday. The city Department of Homeless Services provided hotel rooms to victims who did not qualify for the FEMA hotel program. The FEMA program had previously been extended untill May 29.

Other Stories We're Following

Vito Lopez is Formidable Candidate For Council Despite Scandal (Daily News)

Quinn Pushes NYPD Inspector Bill (NY Post)

Mayoral Candidates As Cause Celebrities (Wall Street Journal)

State Ethics Panel Will Lose Its Leader (Wall Street Journal)

Defense in Fraud trial Blames Failed Effort to Charge Liu (NY Times)

Subway Delays up in 2012 (NY Times)

FEMA Policy Bars Aid For Co-Ops Hit by Sandy (NY Times)

Cuomo Continues Push on Casinos (Albany Times Union)

City Seeks Developer For 1K Affordable Apartments (Crain's)

Thousands March in Manhattan For May Day Protest (DNAinfo)

Cuomo's Transparency Website Flush With New Info (Gotham Gazette)

Scandal-Plagued Councilman Won't Seek Reelection (Gotham Gazette)

Assembly Passes Gender Expression Protection Act (Gotham Gazette)

New Surveillance Tech For Statue Of Liberty (Slate)

Tags: Tagged in: Christine Quinn FEMA hurricane sandy NYPD Vito Lopez