Today's Leads: Still Rebuilding From Sandy; Overnight Subway Repairs

Posted on Dec 17, Posted by Mike Muller Category City
NYU Langone Medical Center is getting a $114 million grant from the federal government this week. The hospital was shuttered by Superstorm Sandy. Also, Assembly Speaker Silver is trying to secure grants from the federal government to help small businesses demolished by the storm. But the destruction wrought by the storm was more than physical and financial, it was emotionally traumatic and its toll is still being born out.
In the Press
MTA Repair Speed Up to Slow Overnight Subway Trips (Daily News)
City Controller Rejects Mayor Bloomberg's $1 Billion 'Taxi of Tomorrow' Contract (Daily News)
Winners and Losers of 2012 (NY Post)
Extell's Chief Thinking Tall For Midtown (Wall Street Journal)
Tags: Tagged in: disaster relief Superstorm Sandy