

Today's Lead Stories: Occupy Anniversary Protests; Hard-to-Read Ballots

Posted on Sep 18, Posted by Mike Muller Category City

About 180 Occupy protestors were arrested on disorderly conduct charges in Lower Manhattan as demonstrators marked the movement's one year anniversary yesterday. Organizers claimed their numbers to be in the thousands , but press reports estimated it in the hundreds.
Another 43 occupiers were arrested over the weekend. Councilman Jumaane Williams was shoved by an officer with a baton but was uninjured.

In the Press...

Voters annoyed by hard-to-read ballots

Teacher evaluation plans moving slowly

Doe Fund founder exploring mayoral bid

MTA to release fare hike options next month

NYC named dirtiest US city

Assembly spent additional \$2,400 on sexual harassment suit, documents show

The city's crime rate not dropping in public parks

Tags: