According to this new survey from the Municipal Art Society, 84 percent of New Yorkers are satisfied with living here, a number that has remained the same for the past three years.

MAS President Vin Cipolla said, 'The MAS Survey on Livability is a roadmap for how to build a better city. We hope it precipitates discussions, starting with this year's MAS Summit for New York City, among everyone in the public and private sectors working to make this amazing city ever more vibrant and livable for all New Yorkers.'
