

Guide for Those Pesky Judicial Races

Posted on Oct 24, Posted by David Howard King Category City

Want to know which judicial races will actually be on the ballot when you show up to vote on Nov. 6?

Like to know a little bit of background on the judges, what their jobs are and who they serve?

Great! We have just the thing to assist you in your quest to be a better informed voter.

The New York State Unified Court System has issued their online voter guide. The guide also offers links to independent reviews of judges and candidates by separate judicial commissions.

You will notice that, in the race for Supreme Court in the 11th Judicial District in Queens, three out of the five candidates responded to the voter guide survey, while a number of Civil Court races are uncontested.

Only one candidate responded to the survey for the Supreme Court seat in the 1st Judicial District in Manhattan; three other candidates failed to do so.

Don't forget to tune back to Gotham Gazette during the week of November 5 for our Guide For the Last Minute Voter.

---

Image of judge's gavel by Flickr user s falkow, used under Creative Commons license.

Tags: Tagged in: judicial races New York State Unified Courts System