

Headlines: Gas Crisis Abates

Posted on Nov 15, Posted by David Howard King Category City

Gas Crisis Abates

Lines for gas have mostly disappeared in New York City and Long Island thanks to 1970s-style rationing as well as emergency deliveries. The relief comes just before the major Thanksgiving travel week. Damage from Hurricane Sandy left normal gas distribution systems in ruins and ports dysfunctional but officials have put together a distribution system that brings gas in from out of state and that has been supplemented by supplies from Federal and State agencies that have supplied gas stations with $2.3 million gallons of gas to help them stay open.

In the Press...

Flooding Damaged Equipment for Bike Share (NY Times)

Schneiderman Subpoenas Con Edison and LIPA (NY Times)

Uprooted by Storm, Students Face Long Trek to Class (NY Times)

Teachers Union Spent \$4.5 Million On Races (Albany Times Union)

Former Assemblyman Pleads Guilty to Fraud (Wall Street Journal)

Some Have Power But no Heat (Wall Street Journal)

Questioning the Power Grid (MetroFocus)

LIPA CEO Resigns (NY Times)

Senators Ask For a Billion in Aid For New York (NY Times)

Rise in Apartments For Sale in Manhattan (Crain's)

Sewage Leak in Rockaways (Daily News)

Hevesi to be Out of Jail in Time for Holidays (Daily News)

Brooklyn Democrats Want to Expel Felder (NY Post)

Tags: