

Weekend Roundup: Moreland Commission; NYT On Education

Posted on Jul 08, Posted by Administrator Category The Eye-Opener

The Daily News found that five of the 25 members appointed to the governor's newly formed Moreland Commission — charged with making recommendations for reforming the state's campaign finance system — failed to file their own financial disclosure forms. The New York Post recommends that the commission look at the reforms in the Public Officers Accountability Act. The New York Times has some guidance for the next mayor on education.

Other Stories We're Following

The Building Boom Under Bloomberg (WNYC)

Councilman Gives Public Funds To District He Wants To Represent (NY Post)

Family Travel Fuels NYC Tourism (Crain's)

Bloomberg Legacy: Private Funding Of Parks (Wall Street Journal)

Tags: